6. Ear Marking

6.1. Regulation

Each lamb born in a registered Oxford Down flock must be identified as soon as practicable after birth with two official ID ear tags, one of which must be electronic and the other non-electronic. The electronic tag must be coloured yellow and is applied to the left ear. The non-electronic tag can be any colour other than yellow, black, or red. The official ID that appears on the two tags must be identical and unique to the lamb. In addition, the Association requires that all lambs retained or sold for breeding must carry the Oxford Down ear mark, applied either as management information on at least one official ID tag, or as a third tag or as a tattoo. If a third tag is used it must be pre-printed or stamped, not hand-written. Ear marks stated on registration forms must match those physically in the sheep's ear.

6.2. Oxford Down SBA Ear Mark

The Oxford Down ear mark shall use the format:

ODSBA Flock No. / Year Code / Individual Lamb Number

The Year Code denoting the year of birth is optional but recommended.

The individual lamb number will be the 5-digit number from the official ID.

Example

For lamb number 00789 born in 2019 in Oxford Down Flock No. 1144 (UK Flock Mark UK0654321):

Official ID	UK0654321 00789	(UK Flock Mark and 5-digit Individual Lamb No.)
Oxford Down ear mark	1144 / 19 / 00789	(ODSBA Flock No / Year Code / 5-digit Individual Lamb No.)

Where the Oxford Down ear mark is not included on the official ID tags as management information, breeders may use standard official ID tags but must apply the Oxford Down ear mark either as a third tag or a tattoo.

If tattoos are used, the ODSBA Flock No. is tattooed in the LEFT ear and the YEAR CODE is tattooed in the RIGHT ear.

6.3. Year Code

Where breeders choose to include the Year Code denoting the year of birth in the Oxford Down ear mark, the last two digits of the lambing year shall be used. For example, the Year Code for 2019 shall be 19. December-born lambs are part of the next year's lamb crop and must be given the next year's Year Code. For example, for lambs born in December 2018 the Year Code shall be 19.

6.4. Re-Tags

Lost tags must be replaced no later than 28 days after being discovered to be missing. If a registered sheep is re-tagged with a new individual number, the owner must notify the Association. If an identical replacement tag is used or the sheep is not registered, notification is not required.

6.5. Record Keeping

The official ID and ODSBA ear mark must be recorded for each lamb alongside its sire and dam information in the breeder's lambing book.
